Liddy trial upheld

WASHINGTON (UPI) — G. Gordon Liddy, convicted Watergate burglar under indictment in the Ellsberg break-in, lost an effort today to avoid trial for contempt of Congress.

U.S. District Judge John H. Pratt denied a motion by Liddy for dismissal of a contempt indictment against him and set May 10 as the trial date. Liddy was indicted last month on two counts of refusing to testify before a congressional committee.

Egyptian 'overhaul' due

CAIRO (UPI) — President Anwar Sadat is expected to overhaul his government next week, picking a new cabinet, pledged to end Egypt's total reliance on the Soviet Union for arms supplies.

The semi-official newspaper Al-Ahram said today Sadat would announce the new cabinet next Friday, staying on as prime minister despite previous plans to give up his second post.

Sadat criticized the Soviet Union Thursday for failing to act on Egyptian arms requests and announced plans to end Cairo's exclusive reliance on the Kremlin for weapons.

Kennedy feted in Moscow

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union rolled out the red carpet today for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., treating the visiting legislator with the deference due a high-ranking official or a strong presidential contender.

Kennedy arrived in Moscow Thursday with his wife, two young children, Kasey, 13, and Ted Jr., 12, for a week-long visit, his first trip to the Soviet Union.

The senator and his family were staying at a Lenin Hills government guest house usually reserved for higher-ranking travelers. Visiting lawmakers usually stay at less plush accommodations.

Famed playwright dies

(c) N.Y. Times Service

PARIS — Marcel Pagnol, the film director and playwright whose tales about the lives and loves of the Marseilles people of France brought him international acclaim and a seat in the French Academy, died here Thursday morning.

Pagnol, who had been bedridden for the last six months, was 79 years old. The cause of death given was a long illness.

Cuban deicide eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Quietly, without debate, the United States has assented to a Latin American diplomatic gambit aimed at bringing Cuba out from the cold.

Without discussion, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger consented Tuesday to a Mexican proposal that hemisphere governments be polled on whether they want Cuba invited to their next foreign ministers' conference.

If everyone agrees, Fidel Castro will send his representative to a parley of American states — this one in Buenos Aires next March — for the first time since the Organization of American States (OAS) imposed a diplomatic and economic quarantine against his government in 1964.

Novelists honored

NEW YORK (UPI) — Novelists Thomas Pynchon and Isaac Bashevis Singer last night shared the 1973 National Book Award for fiction. Pynchon won for his book "Gravity's Rainbow," and Singer was honored for "A Crown of Feathers and Other Stories." A collection of short stories.

A dozen other authors won awards in categories ranging from children's literature to arts and letters. At the awards ceremony at Alice Tully Hall in Lincoln Center.

Boyle seeks new trial

MEDIA, Pa. (UPI) — Attorneys for former United Mine Workers (UMW) President W. A. "Tony" Boyle filed a motion Thursday for a new trial. Boyle, 72, was convicted last week of three counts of murder in the 1969 Yablonski slayings.

Philadelphia attorney A. Charles Peruto joined the defense and said he needed time to study notes of testimony from the two-week trial.

Peruto said the appeal would be based on grounds the Boyle verdict was contrary to evidence presented during the trial and contrary to law.

Giant diamond discovered

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — A black miner rescued what turned out to be the world's ninth largest diamond from a rock crusher, a spokesman for the De Beers Mining Group said Thursday.

The official put no price on the stone, a yellow octahedron weighing 616 carats, pulled off a conveyor belt leading to the rock crusher at the Butha Buthe mine in Kimberly on Wednesday. He said it has "several flaws" and will be photographed later.

French hopefuls campaign

PARIS (UPI) — A dozen candidates officially began campaigning today for next month's French presidential election, with a Socialist and two Gaullists leading the field.

Mideast war roars on Golan Heights

By United Press International

The Israeli-Syrian battles on the Golan Heights front escalated further today. Israeli planes struck deeper into Syria than any time since the October war while Syrian planes attacked the Israeli salient inside Syria. Damascus reported its Soviet-supplied air defenses were confusing and inflicting heavy losses on the Israeli air force.

The Syrians said their anti-aircraft systems shot down nine Israeli planes today, one of them a pilotless reconnaissance aircraft. This brought the total the Syrians claim to have shot down since April 8 to 38. Israel denied the Syrian claims and said the Syrian SAM missiles missed.

Communications reported no aerial battles between Syrian and Israeli planes Thursday or today.

A Syrian communiqué said: "At 2 p.m. (6 a.m. MDT), our aircraft shelled enemy fortified positions and concentrations of its forces on the confrontation lines, scoring hits and inflicting heavy losses in enemy lives and equipment. A number of enemy positions are still on fire. All our planes returned safely to base."

The Israeli command said all its planes returned safely to base and that the Syrian air strikes came several hours later, hitting positions in the bulge Israel thrust into Syria in the war.

The Israelis reported no casualties from the air strike but said one soldier suffered wounds from a Syrian shellfire directed at the salient. It brought the Israeli casualty toll in 39 consecutive days of fighting in the Golan Heights and on Mount Hermon to 10 dead and 50 wounded.

Israel said four Soviet-built MIG-17s swooped over the southern part of the enclave, dropped several bombs and rained machine-gun fire on Israeli positions at the planes but missed, the spokesman said.

"They only made one pass, dropped their bombs and ran away," the spokesman said.

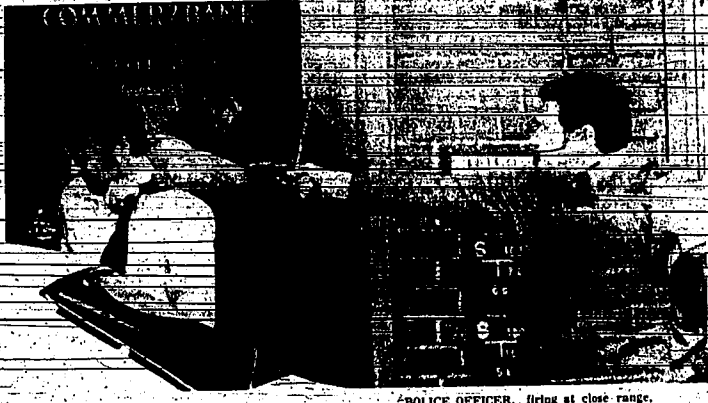

Syria sent its air force into action Thursday for the first time since the October war and the Israeli cabinet went into emergency session today to hear an assessment of the situation by Defense Minister Moshe Dayan and the chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Mordechai Gur.

Syrian continued to continue against Israeli aircraft for the first time since the 18-day war attacked Syrian targets away from the Mount Hermon area. It said the planes strafed Syrian positions south of the bulge Israeli forces thrust into Syria in the war.

The Jerusalem Post said Syria's attack Thursday with 14 MIG-17s may have been an attempt to lure pursuing Israeli aircraft into a strengthened network of SAM missiles.

The Syrians "have been convinced, that anti-aircraft missiles (SAM) were reported to have recently strengthened their defense with a dense network of missile batteries supplied by the Soviet Union," the Post said. "Most of these were of the SAM-2 type."

Too many tractors

SARK, Channel Islands (UPI) — The parliament of Sark is pushing legislation to control its traffic problem, although the island has no automobiles.

But it has tractors. A committee of the Sark Council, the island's independent parliament, contends there are entirely too many tractors on the island.

Speakers last Wednesday said that when the Sark Council's committee unanimously endorsed the Tractors Act of 1974, which will regulate all of the island's tractors to apply for licenses to the committee.

Sawtooth plan readied

By BART QUESNELL
Times-News Writer

KETCHUM — The Sawtooth National Recreation Area plan Wednesday for the 74,000-acre area under the jurisdiction of the National Forest Service.

The plan will be used this summer and will summarize land use that is detrimental to wildlife, fisheries, recreation and watersheds in an area.

The new plan will coordinate with the environmental statement released two weeks ago covering land acquisition, subdivision and development of private lands in the SNRA. Those proposed regulations take effect April 25.

Speaking before SNRA staff Thursday, Norm Malone, project designer for the SNRA, said the booklet would divide SNRA land into 10 separate units. Land acreage in each unit would be further broken down and posted on a matrix listing the potential of each area.

"The highest potential does not mean the highest priority," Malone said.

Recreation priorities will also be listed in the plan which may conflict with the greatest potential in an area.

Gray Reynolds, SNRA supervisor, said that if timber was the greatest potential in an area, but harvesting would result in the destruction of a nearby stream bed, it would be disallowed.

More tapes subpoenaed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For the second time in a month, a subpoena has been served on the White House ordering President Nixon to surrender key Watergate evidence sought by Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

The latest summons — for tapes and documents involving more than five dozen presidential conversations with top aides — was issued last Thursday on the order of U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica.

The subpoena was served little more than an hour later by George K. McKinney, chief U.S. marshal for the District of Columbia, on James D. S. Clair, Nixon's chief Watergate lawyer, at the Executive Office Building next door to the White House.

Sirica ordered issuance of the subpoena at Jaworski's request and directed that Nixon comply with it by delivering the material to the court no later than 10 a.m. ET on May 2.

The White House had no comment other than that Sirica's legal team would study it.

Jaworski, frustrated at a White House refusal to answer his questions, requested in writing that Nixon prepare for the Watergate cover-up trial due to begin Sept. 9, had asked Sirica on Tuesday to authorize the subpoena.

Living cost up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The cost of living rose 1.1 per cent in March, the third highest monthly increase in 27 years. Higher prices for food and shelter accounted for nearly half of the increase.

The report today on the Consumer Price Index (CPI) came as the second piece of bad news for the U.S. economy in two weeks. The Commerce Department reported Thursday the nation's economic growth rate fell by the biggest rate in 18 years and that unemployment rose to 8.2 percent.

The 1.1 jump in the CPI last month has been exceeded only twice since 1947 — a 1.3 advance in February this year and a 1.4 per cent increase last August, the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

In the first three months of the year the CPI has increased at an annual rate of 14.5 per cent, greatest three-month increase since the first quarter of 1951.

In spite of the bad news on two consecutive days, Carl Seever, acting chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, expressed some cautious optimism about future economic trends. He said prospects appeared favorable for a leveling-off in the key categories that showed big rises last month.

"We believe we are now in a period when the sharp rise in food prices is moderating," Seever said, and on fuel prices, he said, it appeared that "most of the expected surge... is behind us."

The CPI rose in March to 143.1. This meant that goods and services which cost $100 in 1967 base period cost $143.1 last month — an increase of 43.1 per cent in the past seven years.

Consumer prices in March were 10.2 per cent higher than a year earlier — the largest 12-month increase since the year ending in October 1967. The first and second increases were due to the jump in food prices.

Gasoline and motor oil accounted for about a fourth of the rise, going up 7.7 per cent to level 39.3 per cent above a year ago.

Food accounted for another quarter of the jump, although the price increase of 1 per cent was lower than the 7.5 per cent rise in February and a 1.6 increase in January.

Nonfood commodities went up 1.5 per cent, largest monthly increase since statistics were started in 1956. The previous high of 1 per cent was set in February.

Dental charges went up 20 per cent in March as the price for making a letter was raised 2 cents to a dime.

Senior 'stretch' studied

By LORAYNE SMITH
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — The Community Action Agency has asked the Idaho State Board of Social Services to assume administration of its senior citizen program.

The reason for the request, according to Bob Russell, director of the three-county South Central CAA, is that the council can "provide more services at cheaper cost."

"They have the political clout with the federal government," he said. The council of government is composed of county and city officials from throughout eight Malheur Valley counties.

He said the request for the transfer of administration of programs under the Older American Act operated through the state Office of Aging is in line with federal policy that all federally-funded programs be administered on a wide regional basis.

States have to be divided into planning areas of wide areas, Russell said, and the agency has a long history, which is the same territory represented by the merged council of governments is the officially recommended designation.

NFO says milk cow slaughter underway

By BILL LAZARUS
Times-News Writer

GOODING — The National Farm Organization reports it has begun slaughtering dairy cattle in Gooding because of low prices.

One group of 30 dairy cows was brought to a Gooding slaughterhouse to be killed Wednesday, NFO officials say.

But the manager of the packing house said he slaughtered no valuable dairy animals.

The NFO is staging a nationwide protest of government importation policies allowing huge quantities of dry milk and cheese to come into the country and undercutting American cheese prices.

"We don't want to make the consumers mad. We don't want to make the processors mad. But yet we've got to live," according to Tojal Houtree, NFO meat chairman for the west and of the Magic Valley.

He said he took over 60 head of cattle to the Magic Valley Packing Co. in Gooding today. About half of these were good milk-producing dairy cows, he said.

The cows were slaughtered because with the deflated cheese market, they had become uneconomical to keep, according to Alvin Johnston, past president of the Twin Falls County NFO.

"These cows would have been kept in the milk string" if the cheese market had not dropped, he said. "Before the price fell, he said, dairy farmers were about breaking even. Now, with the price of milk for cheese production going down about 30 cents per hundredweight only, the very best milk will be profitable to milk," he said.

Even though the killing of milk cows was not announced, Johnston said, it was a protest because the cows would have stayed in the milk string if the market had kept stable.

But Monty Baker, manager of Magic Valley Packing Co., denied that he has killed any good milk cows.

"I called cows yesterday, Wednesday, but they were all old butcher cows," he said. He said about 50 head of cattle were brought in. Some of them were good for milking.

Questioned about Baker's denial, both Houtree and Johnston stood by their original statement.

Opening draws valley guests

TWIN FALLS — Residents from all parts of Magic Valley welcomed the new South Central Idaho Health District headquarters here Wednesday afternoon.

A ribbon cutting ceremony at 1:30 p.m. officially opened the new headquarters. William L. Chancey, Twin Falls, chairman of the district board, and John Van Orman, Jerome, chairman of the state board of the department of Environmental and Community Services, cut the ribbon at the front entrance of the building.

Formerly the American Legion Hall, the building was purchased for $250,000 more than a year ago. Each of the eight counties in the district provided a per capita assessment of $1 to provide for the remodeling costs. A total of $120,000 was spent to remodel the building including new lighting and wiring.

The large auditorium area was remodeled into a waiting and reception area and offices for the secretarial staff, environmentalists, nurses, Dr.

Wayne Carle, medical director, and other staff members.

The basement area provides space for the state laboratories which will be occupied when all equipment and furnishings for the laboratory have arrived. Formerly the department occupied a portion of city hall which was vacated at the request of the city to make room for city offices needing the space.

Dr. Carle said the district for the first time has adequate space for conducting clinics. Several examining rooms and clinic areas are provided on the main floor.

The upstairs room has been remodeled and carpeted to serve as a meeting room for the health board and may be made available to other small groups.

Health district employees and officials served punch, coffee and cookies to several hundred persons who toured the building Wednesday. Chancey said a steady flow of interested persons continued until 6 p.m.

Swimming pool safety backed

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES

Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Stricter safety enforcement at public and commercial swimming pools was supported Wednesday by South-Central Idaho Health Trustees.

The board voted its support to district personnel attempting to enforce regulations requiring all pools open to the public to maintain such safety standards as adequate numbers of lifeguards, lifesaving equipment, at the pool and clear water to allow a view of the pool bottom.

Tim Cochran, an environmentalist with the district said letters have gone to all 54 commercial and public pools in the district but only about 20 per cent have responded by applying for the necessary annual permit.

He said some of the pools in the district are old and present hazards for swimmers. The flow-through pools, such as those using natural hot water, frequently are not clear enough to find a drowning swimmer on the bottom, he said.

Cochran said the district plans to concentrate more on the actual safety measures at this time and less on chlorination of flow-through pools and proper floor slope. New pools, he said, will be required to meet all current standards of the Department of Environmental and Community Services.

Dr. Wayne Carte, medical director for the district, said the police are not intended at putting anyone out of business.

"We will work with these people and do not want to damage their business," but at the same time we want to prevent drownings in public pools," Dr. Carte said.

The environmentalist said there are different standards for the various pools. Most public pools are the pools operated by municipalities or service organizations, and the privately owned commercial pools in the next category are the four serving major motels or resorts with the smallest motel and hotel pools and those of private families being least restrictive.

Pools such as those operated by motels with less than 100 units must post the pool as having no lifeguards and requiring children be accompanied by parents when using the pools, Cochran said.

Briefs

TWIN FALLS — Title of the lesson sermon at the Christian Science Church Sunday will be "Doctrine of Atonement."

Sunday school is held at 9:45 a.m. with church services at 11 a.m. at 160 Ninth Ave. E. The radio program on KTFL at 5:30 p.m. Monday will be entitled "Happiness is a lasting gift from God."

Dr. Wayne Carte, medical director for the district, said the police are not intended at putting anyone out of business.

Couple takes lives

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI) — The note on the apartment door read:

"All in you life call out this (funeral) notice. Arrangements have been made for removal. Everything prepaid."

Inside, police found the bodies of Ira Brotzman, 77, and his wife, Ansonia, 79, who hanged themselves with electrical cord from a balcony railing.

Irvin Brotzman, their son, told investigators his parents had been depressed over ill health and the fact they were moving to a convalescent home.

TF 'Lamp Post' case investigated

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls detectives today were investigating the "Case of the Missing Lamp Post."

According to police reports, an eight-foot-black-lamp-post was stolen from the Twin Falls downtown mall between Tuesday and Wednesday.

The lamp post was taken from a lot of the Western Auto Associates Store, 233 Main Ave. East. Whoever took the pole removed the bolts from its base, pulled the wiring lines loose, removed and broke the lamp shade and bulb, and taped the loose wires and put them in the hole in the concrete left by the missing pole.

The lamp post, owned by the City of Twin Falls, was valued at $350.

In other cases, police were investigating the theft of a small-bore rifle and a window breaking at a downtown department store.

C. A. Parrott, 504 3rd Ave. North, told police Wednesday a rifle was taken from a gun rack in his unlocked pickup truck between 8 p.m. Tuesday and 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Parrott said he thought the rifle was taken while the truck was parked beside his house, but he said the theft could also have occurred while the truck was parked at the county dump during the day. He estimated value of the rifle at about $90.

An employee of the Bon Marche, 401 Main Ave. East, told police Wednesday a window on the west side of the department store was broken by vandals.

Tighter finance laws supported

TWIN FALLS — Eligible voters' concern about campaign financing on a national level will have an opportunity to speak out Saturday.

The League of Women Voters of Twin Falls is conducting a petition drive for signature of those people who wish to let their congressmen know that they want stricter campaign financing laws.

Individual league members have been carrying petitions since the beginning of the drive on April 8 and are staffing a booth Saturday at the Lynwood

Mall for additional signatures. The booth will be open from 10:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. in the interior mall.

The petition drive ends Monday. At that time the petitions will be collected and carried to the state league council meeting in Lewiston on April 26. On May 6 they will be taken to the league national convention in San Francisco by Ella Nelson, the local delegate from Twin Falls.

Petitions from the entire United States will be tallied and sent to each state's senior senator . . . with copies to each congressman.

Another closed zoning meeting

For the second time in a week, the Twin Falls City Zoning Commission has handled important business in unannounced, closed meetings.

The commission, we are told, held another "brainstorming session" regarding the plan of Sierra Life Insurance Company Wednesday morning. On Friday the commission had held an earlier secret meeting with Sierra representatives.

An important question should be asked: "What possible reason can there be for secret discussion of any city zoning matter whatsoever?" The Zoning Commission is a public body whose sole purpose is to help conduct the public's business.

In this case, the commission was budding with the Sierra representatives on a matter of importance to the future development of the north part of the city.

Sierra has proposed a 10-acre complex of commercial and residential development north of the high school.

The specific matter before the commission involved rezoning five acres and annexing to the city another 45 acres.

The outcome of the zoning and annexation requests is of immediate concern to people living nearby. More important, such a large development will have a major effect on the future growth of the city.

It should be emphasized that we have no reason to think there is anything underhanded going on at the meetings. Acting chairman of the commission, David Armstrong said the morning meeting was a brainstorming session at which zoners think out loud.

Presumably there is nothing wrong with zoners thinking out loud, and making contributions to important zoning decisions.

But if zoners should be encouraged to think out loud, why not let members of the public attend such meetings for the same purpose.

Surely they might have something intelligent or important to say.

Equally important, the public might learn something useful from the zoners and Sierra.

Recently, the Idaho Legislature approved and Gov. Andrus signed a law which requires all such meetings be held in public. However, the law does not apply in the recent Twin Falls zoning cases because it has not yet taken effect.

But the introductory section of the new law sets forth a philosophy of government that should be noted and remembered by all units of government which set about administering the public's business.

"The people of the state of Idaho in creating the instruments of government that serve them, do not yield their sovereignty to the agencies so created. Therefore, the legislature finds and declares that it is the policy of this state that the formation of public policy is public business and shall not be conducted in secret."

We believe this principle is important enough to govern the conduct of governmental bodies even before the law goes into effect.

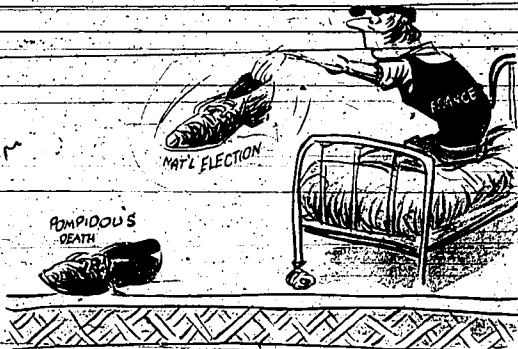

The public's business should be conducted in public.

More military spending unneeded by US now

WASHINGTON — Has anybody around here taken a good look at the $304 billion budget Nixon sent to Congress?

Those who have know he plans to spend, beginning July 1, $91.2 billion on military outlays, plus another $6.3 billion for the remainder of this fiscal year.

When you add the various military programs requested by the Atomic Energy Commission, and military aid in other programs, the total tops $100 billion, that's almost a third of the national budget.

According to Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo.,

ANDREW TULLY

no enemy of the military, the United States possesses a megatonnage of bombs so great that all the bombs dropped by the U.S. during World War II would be less than 1-25th of 1 per cent of the explosive power of the present supply.

"How come? Are we not in an era of 'detente'?" "What about the negotiations in the Middle East, reopened U.S.-China relations, negotiations with the USSR, and an end to U.S. military involvement in Indochina? Don't these affect our military expenditures at all?"

Even among veteran Congressional leaders bent to defend large military budgets, such as Sen. John Stennis of Mississippi, chairman of the Armed Services Committee, the reaction is one of shock and dismay.

"I must say I'm disappointed we couldn't reduce the budget. I didn't expect any jump from last year like this one," says Stennis, House Majority Leader Thomas O'Neill, D-Mass., said it treats a further shortcoming of vital domestic programs.

What Defense Secretary Schlesinger is planning to do, according to his own testimony, is "retarget" nuclear weapons to build "budgets" into the strategic nuclear forces in case talks with the Russians fail. We may be in for a whole new round of nuclear weapons buildup instead of beginning mutual disarmament negotiations.

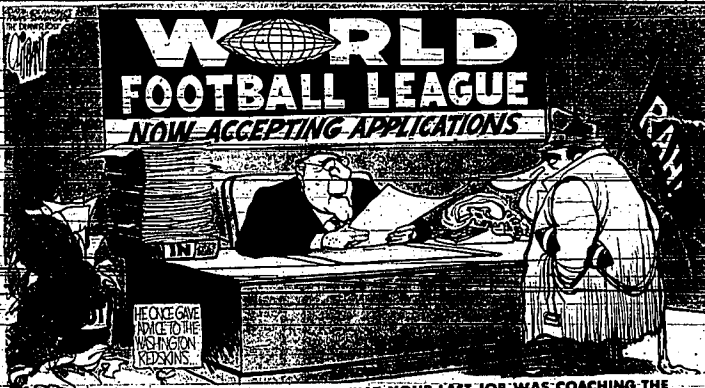

JAMES RESTON

The Nixon cabinet and the Republican leaders on the Hill watch all this in wonder and despair. They try to defend him, but they cannot figure out how to defend a man who won't talk candidly to them or give them the facts.

So back of all the headlines and the defensive stonewalling tactics, this personal mistrust is dominating the thoughts of the Capital. A president cannot be impeached for not being a nice straight guy, or even for being shifty and devious; but these qualities don't help him—and they could be decisive in the votes in the House and Congress.

After all, Nixon came to power calling for a higher legal and moral order, and didn't even live up to the old order. This is what is really hurting him now.

"NOW, I NOTE IN YOUR APPLICATION THAT YOUR LAST JOB WAS COACHING THE MICHIGAN EIGHTH DISTRICT."

Well-being of Republic principal concern now

Mr. Nixon is in a mess, and never mind for a minute the question—what share of the responsibility he deserves for it.

It has now come to the point of discussion whether he can take his dog on Air Force One to California without reimbursing the United States government.

As has been pointed out, when this kind of thing was tried on Franklin Delano Roosevelt, he turned it around—and almost got the best of Westwood Pyleg. I say almost, because where FDR was concerned, the charge was that special trips were authorized exclusively for the sake of Fala.

It has not been alleged that Air Force One was specially dispatched for the sake of picking up King Timboe. Merely that the dog rode in the airplane. Nixon's critics, having tuned up, find it easier to buy through the night than to use restraint in anything involving Nixon.

There is a congressman on the judiciary committee. He is angry at what he considers the contumacious conduct of President Nixon. What is it this time? Well, Nixon wants until April 22 to hand over the tapes requested by the committee.

Nixon's lawyer says, mind you, that he is making no commitment to hand over all those tapes at that time. The commitment, rather, is to hand over those tapes which Nixon feels relate directly to the Watergate controversy.

WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY, JR.

If Nixon was prepared to hand over the tapes without any qualification, obviously there would be no point in waiting until April 22. He could as well hand them over this morning. What the congressman is saying is that the White House has no right to pass independent judgment over whether these tapes refer in any way to Watergate. The attitude of presumptive distrust is nearly poisonous.

Nixon goes to France, to attend the memorial services of Georges Pompidou. And while he is there, he is supposed to be in meetings with the heads of state assembled there.

Everyone agrees that our relations with Europe are in disrepair. Everyone agrees that it is a matter of the highest priority that we should do something about it. But all of a sudden a critical community which is not known for the recent it puts on showing reverence for the remains of Georges Pompidou, may rest in peace, find it profane that Nixon should take the opportunity to talk about the problems of the living.

I cannot imagine that this criticism would have been leveled at Dwight Eisenhower, or John Kennedy, or even Lyndon Johnson. The tone, on the contrary, would have been altogether appropriate. President at Pompidou likes to see European Accord. And plenty of approving editorials.

Take the Russian trip. Everyone is ready to criticize it. I am ready to criticize it. But I was just as ready before Watergate, because it is my conviction that we have been morally replaced by the Communist world during Nixon's reign. People who were aware of Nixon's discovery of the joys of life under Chairman Mao, and who congratulated Nixon for his conclusion of the SALT accords wherein we agreed to military inferiority, are putting Nixon in a position where he can't win. If he drives a bargain good for America, the Soviet Union will walk and Nixon's critics will say the Soviet Union can't do business with Nixon because he is playing in the "fleece" phrase of Senator Javits, "impeachment politics."

He is being tough on the Soviet Union. THEY WILL SAY—to impress the guys back home. On the other hand, if he does make a deal with the Soviet Union, they will say that he is anxious to score so as to come back victorious. The tragedy is that there is no apparent escape from this rut. The position of the critics is too nearly adamant, and Nixon has made too many political and psychological mistakes.

It is a reason why men of true vision are less concerned now with individual justice, than with the well-being of the republic.

Graphs, pictures, key: Energy Crisis moved out

WASHINGTON — Three moving men walked into the office of the Energy Crisis and started taking down the pictures and graphs.

"What are you guys doing?" the Energy Crisis asked.

"We have orders to move all your stuff out. They're moving another crisis into this office."

"But I just got here," the Energy Crisis protested.

The Energy Crisis ran across the street to the White House.

"I'm the Energy Crisis," he told the guard at the gate, "and I have to see the President right away."

The guard telephoned the President's office.

"Rose Mary, I have some nut out here who says he's the Energy Crisis and he has to see the President."

"That's what I thought," the guard said. "The President can't see you, and his secretary says if you have any problems to take them up with his Counselor for National Crises in the Executive Office Building. Here's a pass. Give it back to me when you come out."

The counselor hardly looked up. "Sit down and make it short," he said.

"Why am I being moved out of my office?" the Energy Crisis demanded.

"You want it straight? We don't need you any more. Get lost."

ART BUCHWALD

"But only a few months ago the President said I was the most important issue of the decade. He said I would be here through the '80s. I moved, my family to Washington. I gave up a good job and a pension. How can you decide I'm not needed any more?"

The counselor said, "You served a purpose."

You took people's minds off other crises. The American people don't like you, and you're going to have to be sacrificed for political expediency."

"But don't you understand? Nothing's changed. We're going to run out of oil and fossil fuels if we don't have a strong conservation program. Look, I've worked out a plan."

"We're not interested in your plans. If we run out of gas, we run out of gas, but there is no sense worrying everybody about it. Why don't you leave quietly?"

"What about the Arabs? Suppose they put their boycott again? Then where are you?" The counselor yawned. "You really are a bore. Can't you get it through your head this country will not stand for Energy Crisis?"

"I almost had a revolution on my hands. We have a tough election coming up this fall and if you were still around in November we could lose everything. You're nothing but bad news."

"But don't you see what you're doing to me? A lot of people didn't believe in me in the first place. They said you brought me in so the oil companies could raise prices. If you kick me out now no one is ever going to believe me again."

"Look," the counselor said, "you're too caught up in your own problems. We have crises coming out of our ears."

"We have Watergate; we have tax problems, and we have a credibility gap on our hands. As a matter of fact, we need your office. For the lawyers who will be working on the President's impeachment."

"I still think you're making a mistake," the Energy Crisis said.

The counselor replied, "We know what we're doing or we wouldn't be at the White House. Oh, by the way, the President asked me to give you this set of cuff-links with his seal on it to show his gratitude for all you did for him. Now if I could just have your key to the men's room."

Half year changes only Murphy

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Flavor depends on taste, smell

Friday, April 19, 1974 • Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho • 5

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News Capital Bureau
BOISE — Last October, Lt. Gov. Jack Murphy announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor.
His strategy then, which was remarkably successful, was to close the door on any serious primary opposition. The thinking was that Murphy's early announcement, plus Gov. Cecil D. Andrus' formidable incumbency, would make the race completely unappealing for any other Republican. The only thing that has changed in six months is Murphy.

... withdrawing?

He suffered a back injury last week when he fell off a horse. He has said consistently since then that he would decide in several days what to do about his lack, on the Republican nomination for governor. Since that initial reaction he has changed his position slightly, saying that if his injury precludes his race against Andrus he would try for another four years as lieutenant governor.
Whether Murphy's fall was merely the excuse he needed to withdraw from the race makes little difference. He told the Senate in the final hours of his eighth year as presiding officer that he might return to occupy the chair once again. Strange things have a way of happening.

Persons in touch with Murphy, politicians and otherwise, are firm in their conviction that he will withdraw his gubernatorial candidacy. That impression is presumably present in the plans of both Rep. Vernon Ravnescroft, R-Tuttle, and Glen Wegner, who made an unsuccessful Republican primary bid for the U.S. Senate in 1972.
One of the other or both of these men will probably end up as GOP candidates in a primary. Ravnescroft has been in touch with Murphy since the lieutenant governor suffered his injury, and the state legislator does not sound like a man who is preparing to run for lieutenant governor.

Since Ravnescroft has said previously that he will not oppose Murphy in a primary, the conclusion is that he is trying seriously now to gauge his support in a race for governor. His only other alternative is to return to his position of power in the state House of Representatives.
Wegner is in a different situation. He apparently hasn't talked much with Murphy about a discussion. But he has had a discussion with Ravnescroft. His action is going to be hard to draft new candidates, although he follows with the obligatory statement that he is unafraid of a primary.

If Wegner does decide against opposing Ravnescroft, he still has the option of running for lieutenant governor. The problem there is that Murphy has advantages similar to Andrus. He is the incumbent, and if he can convince the public that he is healthy enough to serve, he may not have to campaign at length.
The choice for Wegner then becomes whether to risk his second primary loss in two years against Ravnescroft or whether to wait two more years for 1976.
There are two other Republican politicians to take into account.
They are Pat Harwood, the Simplot Co. executive who has already announced his GOP candidacy for lieutenant governor, and Hope Kading. Kading is going to announce next week that she, too, wants to be lieutenant governor.
Her mind is made up, and her announcement could come by coincidence within 24 hours next week of Murphy's final decision.

Harwood is reportedly determined to stay in the race. He met with Murphy Wednesday, and is understood to have made his position clear to him.
Andrus is sitting in his second floor office in the Statehouse, planning executive reorganization. He isn't even going to announce for his second term in office until sometime after the end of the month.

Amtrak's 'negative' answer irks Andrus

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus said today he was angered at the "negative response" he had received from Amtrak concerning renewal of passenger train service to southern Idaho.
Andrus said, however, that the latest stumbling block would not stop him from continuing his efforts to restore rail service across the southern portion of the state.

He said he intended to write the Secretary of Transportation and continue to pursue the possibility of southern Idaho and the Pacific Northwest successfully obtaining one of the experimental routes added each year, he said.

Chairman of the Pacific Northwest Regional Commission (PNRC), Andrus said he had written David A. Watts Jr., director of state and local affairs for Amtrak. The governor said he had asked Amtrak for an estimate on the possible operating loss of an Idaho route, and if it was not too prohibitive, that possibly PNRC could pick up two-thirds of the operating deficit.

He said that Watts replied that "even if the PNRC does offer to pick up two-thirds of the operating loss, we're not from Portland through southern Idaho, Amtrak will not have the equipment to fulfill the request."

"Personally," said Andrus, "I am angered by this latest example of a federal agency waffling with regard to a commitment legislatively made."

He further questioned Amtrak's ability to meet its legislative mandated responsibilities by pointing out that the Amtrak official's letter also indicated Amtrak is not sufficiently staffed to take care of study requests such as the one he asked for.

Andrus said that "through congressional pressure, we could also conceivably see that Amtrak would be brought to the point where Amtrak could adequately handle its legislated responsibilities."

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My teenage son came up with a good question. If everyone's taste buds are alike, why don't they like or dislike the same foods, dispelling the fact of the mind? — R. B.
Yes, a good question except that you can't "dispel" the fact of the mind.
There are four fundamental sensations of taste—sweet, sour, salty, bitter. Presumably these sensations are pretty much the same in everyone, so far as we can deduce.
But flavor depends not only on taste but on sense of smell, and if you don't believe it, just ask somebody who has lost his sense of smell. He'll tell you how much flavor is lost.
Likes or dislikes are conditioned also by the texture of food. A crisp slice of toast is more appealing than one that has been out in the rain. Ice cream should taste as good melted as not—but we like it frozen. Temperature, too, has a part. How'd you like a dish of cold mashed potato swimming in hot gravy?
But even after all that there are other matters—that are purely of the mind and emotions. I remember one mother whose youngsters wouldn't eat mashed potatoes. When the ingenious mama added a little blue vegetable coloring to the potato, her brood gobbed it up.
Some folks dislike rabbit meat and venison because they can't bear to think of eating "a bunny" or a deer. Some children are "conditioned" by comments that parents make about liking this, disliking that. Taste buds help set the flavor basically, but whether you like the flavor is psychological.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: Thank you so much for your booklet on leg cramps. I started taking two calcium tablets every day and began sleeping without cramping. Still, I haven't had a complete night's rest from cramps not only in the calves of my legs but up into the thigh. — J. T.

It's good to hear your report. Leg cramps at night aren't always cured as promptly as in your case, but lack of calcium is indeed one cause of such cramps.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can eating raw spaghetti harm your stomach? — R. S. P.
No—but what's the appeal in eating it that way?

Police disclose notebook data

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A notebook mentioning "guns" and an "action" against Patricia Hearst was found by police in a burned and hastily abandoned Symbionese Liberation Army headquarters three weeks before the girl was kidnapped. It was disclosed today.

A federal investigator said the notebook notations, including Miss Hearst's name and school, were prepared by someone taking notes on a telephone call.

Newspaper executive Randolph A. Hearst said the notebook was a "questionable proof" his daughter was not involved in the abduction.

Hearst and his wife Catherine, also defended their daughter after U.S. Attorney General William B. Saxbe called the girl a "common criminal."

Both said they would find it difficult to believe the notebook was a forgery, but during a holiday at the Hibernia Bank Monday was Miss Hearst.

"The man (Saxbe) made it impossible, statements that explicitly take the top of his head when he should be listening," Hearst said.

However, Hearst said he could not understand why neither he nor his daughter was notified by police when the notebook was discovered after an arson fire January 10 in a Concord house used by the SLA.

The federal investigator told the San Francisco Chronicle the notebook had references to Patricia Hearst, kidnapped girl.

Miss Hearst being a junior at the University of California at Berkeley. He added that the book had been turned over to the FBI crime laboratory in Washington.

In addition, he said, there were a number of "t's" about "tents," "guns," the need to "register the van by February 11" and the Black Guerrilla Family, a group of inmates in prison.

One reference was: "On the night of the full moon of January 7."

Miss Hearst was not kidnapped from her Berkeley apartment until a month later, Feb. 4, and the full moon was Feb. 6.

A police investigator said it was a "thoroughgoing good" not to release the information to the Hearst family.

"Apparently those who first examined the notebook either put no significance to the name Hearst or assumed the SLA would drop the name because the house hadn't burned down and considerable evidence had been found."

IRS records delivered

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Special Investigator Leon Jaworski has asked for and received Internal Revenue Service records of the investigation of President Nixon's tax returns.

Confirmation of the transfer came Thursday from Arthur Blech, the Los Angeles tax accountant who prepared the President's tax returns. He told JPI that he had been informed the testimony he gave the IRS in early March had been turned over to Jaworski. Jaworski recently asked Attorney General William Saxbe for permission to review the tax case.

"I have not been informed that I am a target of the investigation and I don't believe I will," Blech said in a telephone interview in his Los Angeles office. "But I was told the testimony I gave the IRS was being turned over to Mr. Jaworski."

Blech, a prominent West Coast tax accountant, previously told UPI and other news organizations that he never talked with Nixon directly about the tax returns, but prepared them on specific directions from Frank DeMarco Jr., one of Nixon's personal lawyers, and tax advisers.

Blech said Jaworski's office has not contacted him in the case. Neither Jaworski's office nor the IRS would confirm that the tax case is now being handled by the special prosecutor.

On April 3 IRS and the joint tax committee in Congress concluded Nixon had underpaid federal taxes by more than $430,000. The White House said Nixon would pay the back taxes, plus interest, and said the mistakes were made "by those to whom he delegated the responsibility for preparing his return."

More enter Israel race

TEL AVIV (UPI)—Three Israeli cabinet ministers have entered the "Labor" party's "free-for-all" political contest to replace outgoing Prime Minister Golda Meir.

Party sources said Information Minister Shimon Peres declared his candidacy Thursday, joining Foreign Minister Abba Eban and Labor Minister Yitzhak Rabin in the backroom battle for succession.

"This is becoming a real free-for-all, just like an American political campaign, for the first time in Israel's history," one Labor party source said.

Party sources said some Labor members also were trying to get Prime Minister Pinchas Sapir, one of the political organization's most powerful leaders, to put his name in the running.

Nominated

VIRGINIA V. Trotter, vice chancellor for academic affairs at the University of Nebraska, is expected to become assistant HEW secretary for education in one of three appointments involving top officers in the federal education field.

Ms. Trotter is a native of Boise (UPI).

140 foot fall

not fatal

FALL RIVER, Mass. (UPI)—Carl Casuar, 50, of Warren, R.I., told police he fell 140 feet into the ocean on the Braga Bridge when he lost his balance and fell, plunging 140 feet into the Tantan River below.

Stunned, he nevertheless made it to the surface but then had to swim 800 yards to shore.

Casuar was taken to good condition at St. Ann's Hospital.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Here is the big argument between me and my mother. If I am home alone, should I have to answer the phone when it rings? I say only if I feel like it. She says I must, regardless!

Let's assume the phone rang, and I don't answer it. If the call is for a member of the family who isn't home, he or she would not be home to talk anyway, so it is important the caller would call back later, right?

If the call is for me, if I chose not to answer it then I mean I don't feel like talking, so that's my privilege, isn't it?

That's my argument, and my mom disagrees. I see no reason why I should have to tear myself away from what ever I'm doing to answer the telephone. I am tired of being a secretary for my parents and taking messages for them when they're out. If messengers are that important to them they should get a mechanical box that answers telephone calls with a prerecorded message.

I am curious to know your opinion on the matter.

TIED TEEN

DEAR TIRED: I think your mother is right. It could be an emergency or an important message for someone in your family. Now, get off your duff and answer the telephone when it rings!

DEAR ABBY: In a few months we will be moving into our new home, and I'd like to throw a question out to you, and your readers.

We will have a swimming pool, and I want to enjoy using it; however, I've observed other pool owners having problems with uninvited friends who overstay their welcome. Also neighbors who get hurt if they are told "No, not today."

Someone suggested the flag system (when it's out, come on over), but how do we keep the undesirable from joining in, too?

How can we ask people nicely to leave at a certain time without turning them off completely?

NEW POOL OWNER

DEAR OWNER: The flag system is the best. Who are the "undesirables" who "might" join in, too? If you mean strangers, ask them to leave. If they're neighbors who have been invited by you, to "come on over," when your flag is out, when you want them to leave at a certain time make it plain beforehand, so they won't be surprised.

DEAR ABBY: At a banquet recently I was being introduced to my husband's boss and employees when a secretary piped up. "Your hair is very pretty. Or is that a wig?" (I'm bald). There was total silence while everyone waited for my reply. Having been put on the spot, I had to tell the truth, but I don't know when I've been so humiliated.

Another time, I was asked by a woman I hardly knew: "Doesn't your past girlfriends are they?" They weren't!

I have witnessed nervy questions being asked at others. For example: "How much did that cost?" Also: "How come you never had any children?"

Are people getting less considerate of others? I have never noticed such bad manners before. Please tell people to cut it out!

PLEASE DON'T ASK

DEAR PLEASE: Rude, thoughtless and presumptuous people always have been with us, but no one is compelled to answer a question he doesn't want to answer. An appropriate response is: "I don't think it's any of your business," and don't hang around for a rebuttal.

Recital set Sunday at TF-Y

Open house set Sunday

RUPERT — Mr. and Mrs. Claude Chugg will be honored at an open house Sunday at their home, 900 N. 175 E. Rupert.

The couple was married Feb. 14 at the Burley First Christian Church with Rev. Leman Messley officiating.

Mrs. Chugg is the former Elaine Smith.

Mrs. Chugg's children, Mrs. Glen (Judy) Olson, Debbie and Jerry Smith, are hosts for the event. Another daughter, Mrs. Dennis (Patricia) Felton, lives in Wallidell, N. Y., and will be unable to attend.

Friends and relatives are invited to visit between 2 and 5 p.m.

TF public meet slated

TWIN FALLS — A public meeting on the problems of the elderly will be held at the College of Southern Idaho Wednesday at 1:30 p.m.

The meeting, according to Kay Fell, director of the Idaho Office on Aging, is for all citizens and agencies concerned with the problems of the elderly. It will be in the Shields Academic Building, Room 118.

Input is needed as to those planning units in the area that have expertise in aiding the development of an area plan for "Older Americans." Ms. Fell said. She said designation of a unit to administer the 1973 amendments of the Older Americans Act will be made after such planning units have had opportunity to present their capabilities to seniors in the area.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — With negative economic news pouring in from Washington, investors took a cautious stance and prices declined after an opening in the New York Stock Exchange. Friday in moderate trading, the Dow Jones Industrial Average was off 1.02 at 668.90, shortly after the opening. Declines led advances, 148 to 52, among the 30 issues crossing the tape. Turnover amounted to around 360 million shares. Although the market has moved ahead in the past, recently analysts said there is much concern among investors. The caution is based on some unfavorable economic news, particularly indications of a recession. Several banks have raised their prime lending rates to 10 1/2 percent, an all-time high. One thing the investors were watching for during the session was the government report on the consumer price index.

today in brief

Microhanding loss at $5,000

BURLEY — Loss is estimated at $5,000 in a Thursday night break-in at the new Gamble's store in Burley.

Sometime between 8 p.m. and 1 a.m. Thursday, unknown persons entered the store through the back door. The burglars took chain saws, televisions, tools, battery, chargers, overline, knives, watches and other items. A complete inventory has not been made, although store officials have made a general estimate of the loss of merchandise.

The break-in was discovered by patrolman Kevin Kelly. The case is still under investigation by Burley police detectives.

BOISE — Atty. Gen. W. Anthony Park said Thursday he would announce a final decision about continuing to seek re-election in the next two weeks.

Park was elected to his post in 1980 and two years later lost in a Democratic senatorial primary election. He is expected to try for a second term as attorney general.

There are two announced candidates for the Republican nomination for the job: Park holds they are Tim Hopkins, an Idaho Falls attorney, and Wayne Kidwell, a Boise lawyer who lost a 1972 primary bid to Rep. Steve Symms in a race for Congress.

Won't seek post

BOISE — (UPI) — A young Boise mother has decided raising two children will not give her enough time to compete for a congressional seat to represent Idaho's First District.

Rep. Dan Claitor said Thursday she definitely will not run for the Democratic nomination for Congress.

Candidates doubtful

JEROME — The chairman of the Idaho Board of Environmental and Community Services said Wednesday a race for the state legislature was doubtful.

John Van Orman, a Jerome County Commissioner, said he had been approached as a possible Republican candidate for the seat held by Rep. Earl Greenwalt. R-Jerome. Greenwalt has announced he will not seek another term.

But Van Orman said he doubted he would consider the race. "I don't know who put out this malarkey," he said. But when asked whether he would absolutely rule out a try for the legislature, he said, "I don't like to ever close any doors prematurely."

Probe continues

TWIN FALLS — County sheriff's deputies and city police detectives are continuing investigation into last weekend's vandalism at television station KMYT.

Sheriff Paul Corder said today "every available man" from his office was working on the case in which an estimated $300,000 damage was done.

Twin Falls police detectives have also joined the investigation at the request of both the sheriff's office and the insurance company representing KMYT, Corder said.

The break-in and vandalism occurred Saturday. Damage done by apparently knowledgeable and selective vandals knocked out the station's local programming until temporary repairs were effected Monday.

TF Jaycees sponsor circus

TWIN FALLS — Get ready for popcorn and peanuts, an entertainment circus is set to come to town.

The Wallace and Rogers Circus, sponsored by the Twin Falls Jaycees, will give shows at 2 and 8 p.m. Saturday and at 2 p.m. Sunday.

The circus, one of the last old-fashioned tent circuses to tour the United States, will pitch its big top at the southeast corner of Harmon Park.

The circus is a long-time family affair. The Rogers family began touring with its circus in 1952. One of the Rogers daughters, Helene, with her husband John Hartzell, formed a flying trapeze act and performed in years past as the Flying Hartzells before establishing the Wallace and Rogers Circus.

Three of the four Hartzell sons are with the circus as well as three grandsons.

Ready and set for the show are a trained elephant, fancy horse and trained birds, an aerial act, magician, clown and more.

Doors open one hour before show time for pre-circus entertainment. Tickets will be sold at the door for this new old-fashioned circus, presented in the one-ring European style.

14 immigrants become US citizens at TF fete

TWIN FALLS — Fourteen immigrants became United States citizens at a court session at the Twin Falls Kiwanis Club's Thursday luncheon.

Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, spoke about the contributions immigrants have made to the nation and about the future of America at the event.

"They have brought this great diversity which is the source of our strength," he said. Hansen said America is at a critical, uncertain time in its history. But, with the uncertainty comes excitement and challenge, he added.

"The future of this country is still very much before us... we all have a part to play," he said.

The representative attributed the "real source of our strength" not to material wealth, but to the spirit of the people. "As long as the people keep their faith, the faith will keep the nation," he said.

To the new citizens Hansen extended the "warmest and continuing welcome" for their participation in the continuing story of the American adventure.

The new citizens are: Dale Vivian Martin, Marcos Ramon Zabala, Tristram, Bernard, Delapoe Beresford, Andres Lejaral, Monke Christine, Mechun, Ann Lee Wang, Victor Chertudi, Helmut Johann Purrer, Jose Rodriguez Hincen, Soñi Lee Olson, Hilda Lopez Galindo, Linda Fay Hansen and Remi Terese Olmsted.

Senior transfer proposed

Since the merger of the South Idaho Resource and Planning Development Association (SIRPDA) and the Wood River Resource Area Council of Governments will not become effective until July 1, official action will be required by both groups.

Russell said approval was expressed at a SIRPDA meeting Wednesday night and that group voted to ask the newly merged council of government to ask for designation as "area administrator of programs for senior citizens."

The proposal will be discussed by the Wood River Council of Governments at a meeting scheduled for 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Gooding courthouse, according to Del Taylor, executive director of that group.

Russell said "that's what community action is all about... it's a joint effort between the two groups. It's not a one-sided, one-way, cheap cost." He said fragmented and uncoordinated services "at administration costs."

The CAA chief said if the council of governments eventually does assume the administration of the program, the CAA will still have plenty to do. He said his agency is trying to identify other needed services and would like to take on an "advocate" role for seniors regarding problems of supplemental Social Security income.

The CAA would like to develop long-term services for the aged, as well as work on such areas as youth recreation, housing and rehabilitation and economic development with low income, he said.

There are four CAA employees now who spend most of their time coordinating the senior citizens programs and their status if the proposal is approved would be "indefinite," although Russell indicated "we could have CAA people working with them."

He said the philosophy of the CAA is to "get more services and coordinate programs."

He said further input on the proposal would be sought from the public meeting Wednesday afternoon at GST, sponsored by the Office on Aging.

The CAA now administers about a $34,000 grant which runs out June 30, and is used to operate senior citizens centers in Buhl, Twin Falls, Cassia County and one in Jerome.

James E. Worley told Buhl Kiwanis members that since the "blowup" at the ranch about a year ago, which resulted in "new administration," the facility has adopted "complete new thinking."

He said the ranch right now has 16 boys and is licensed for 24. Boys can no longer be forced into work and must report punishment can be used. He said the implication in the investigation into the ranch's operation last year was that they have been "shut out."

Now the farming operation is completely separate from the "boy program," he said. "Since then the staff has established 'positions' of work needing to be done about the facility and boys can apply for these jobs. They are paid and the ranch administration has set up checking accounts, not at a bank, but with savings accounts at the ranch, so each boy had a record of his earnings."

Worley said the checking accounts have "created much interest among the boys. The boys also have to pay for any damage they do at the facilities."

The director said the ranch has had as high as 10 requests for placing boys from throughout the state through the courts.

"We are under close surveillance of the department of corrections and the state of Idaho," he said.

Area project under way

JEROME — Construction is under way on a $38,000 addition to the Jerome County Courthouse.

Formal groundbreaking ceremonies were held Wednesday with Jerome County Commission Chairman Claude Bowman turning the first shovel of dirt.

Others participating were C. Skip Goddard, Nielsen Construction Co., Twin Falls; contractor; Bill Kepner, construction foreman; Vern Lewis, architect; John Van Orman, county commissioner, and city and county employees.

Bernard told those attending "We have been a long time waiting and planning for this addition. It represents a joint effort between the city and county. The new courthouse, law enforcement and jail facilities combined county, city operation with Hazelton and Eden participating in the program."

The new addition and some remodeling of the present courthouse is expected to be completed within 275 days. Goddard said he believes the work can be completed within that time frame, but his firm has experienced difficulty in obtaining steel for the project.

"How the building goes will be determined by availability of materials, work forces and weather," Goddard said.

Following the groundbreaking, Bernard and Virginia Ricketts, county clerk, officially signed the contract for the project. When completed the new facility will still house the Jerome County Sheriff's Department and the city police department.

The commissioners have set aside $50,000 in this year's budget to pay for the building program.

Buhl hears ranch change

By LORAYNE G. SMITH
Times-News Writer

BUHL — The Idaho Youth Ranch, which has been closed for about a year, is being changed into a treatment center, its director said in Buhl Wednesday.

James E. Worley told Buhl Kiwanis members that since the "blowup" at the ranch about a year ago, which resulted in "new administration," the facility has adopted "complete new thinking."

He said the ranch right now has 16 boys and is licensed for 24. Boys can no longer be forced into work and must report punishment can be used. He said the implication in the investigation into the ranch's operation last year was that they have been "shut out."

Now the farming operation is completely separate from the "boy program," he said. "Since then the staff has established 'positions' of work needing to be done about the facility and boys can apply for these jobs. They are paid and the ranch administration has set up checking accounts, not at a bank, but with savings accounts at the ranch, so each boy had a record of his earnings."

Worley said the checking accounts have "created much interest among the boys. The boys also have to pay for any damage they do at the facilities."

The director said the ranch has had as high as 10 requests for placing boys from throughout the state through the courts.

"We are under close surveillance of the department of corrections and the state of Idaho," he said.

Low bid studied

KIMBERLY — Ten bids were opened by Kimberly officials Thursday afternoon for the sewer line to connect to Twin Falls lines.

The low bid of $412,535.60 from Joben Construction Co., Yakima, will be sent to the Environmental Protection Agency office in Boise for checking before the contract is awarded, according to Bob Vawter, city works superintendent.

He said 4 of the 10 bids were within the $494,354 cost estimate of JUB Engineers, Twin Falls.

Other low bidders were J.M. and F. Inc., $458,908.90 and Nielsen Construction Co., $464,593.50. Both firms are from Twin Falls. Bids were received from as far away as Portland, Vawter said.

Construction deadline on the new interceptor sewer line is Dec. 31. The project will connect the Kimberly sewer system with the Twin Falls city sewer system and will replace the Kimberly disposal plant which Vawter termed "old and obsolete."

He said the new project also will provide some trunk lines within the Kimberly city limits.

The start of the project has been eagerly awaited by city officials since at least 80 acres of land are waiting to be annexed as soon as the increased sewage facilities are assured. An estimated additional 200 acres also are waiting for annexation, city officials reported earlier.

BPA schedules Burley meet

BURLEY — Bonneville — Bureas Administration will have a public meeting about its proposed rate increase at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the Buhl Inn.

Comments on the company's draft environmental statement on the proposed rate increase will be heard.

According to Emanuel G. Asp, BPA's Idaho Falls area manager, oral and written statements will be accepted and members of the public wishing preference in order of appearance should contact his office. He said the public hearing will be held in the Buhl Inn.

The environmental statement is available for inspection at the BPA Idaho Falls Office, 331 Lorne St., or at depository libraries at Moscow and Pocatello, and Spokane, Wash.

Department of Environmental and Community Services, Worley said. "They want to take the boys and provide all this support in treatment, but don't give you the money to pay for it."

He said since the ranch has become a treatment center, a psychiatrist, psychologist and nurse have been added, as well as all house parents being trained as social workers. This has brought the costs up to $953 per boy per month, compared to the $150 provided by DECS.

The real need, Worley said, is improvement in the family problems which are the cause of the boys being sent to the ranch. "A lot of concern on the part of some of these parents is 'nauseating,'" Worley said.

He said one of the major changes made since he came to the post has been to put all administrative offices in one complex.

A physical education facility is in the planning stage at the ranch, with $150,000 from a foundation. This amount is to be matched by private contributions, and about $50,000 needs to be raised, Worley said.

He said an open house is planned at the ranch, located 15 miles north of Rupert, June 2 and invited Kiwanis to attend and inspect the facilities.

Worley said members of the Twin Falls unit of the National Guard are going to install a rail fence at the ranch Saturday.

Worley was accompanied in the Kiwanis meeting by Don Bybee, Boise, who is serving as a public relations consultant to the youth ranch.

GROUND BREAKING for a new half-million dollar addition to the Jerome County Courthouse took place Wednesday. Participating were C. Skip Goddard, Nielsen Construction Co., general contractor; Bill Kepner, project foreman; Claude Bowman, county commissioner with sheriff; John Van Orman, county commissioner; and Vern Lewis, architect, all from left.

A: A trick query, that. Sherry's made in a solera. That's a bank of connected barrels one atop the other. The vintages in all those casks tend to marry therefore. Fezler's early 66 stands against late finishers

PENSACOLA, Fla. (UPI)—Forrest Fezler's early 66 stood the test throughout the first round Thursday and gave the young Californian a one-stroke lead in the $150,000 Monsanto Open.

The 24-year-old Fezler, who started this season after winning more than $100,000 last year, completed his 5-under-par round, before half of the Monsanto field even started. Several of Fezler's competitors made a run at him during the sunny, virtually windless day. But, in the end, the best of the rest were the 4-under-67s posted by early-starting Chris Evert and Chuck Courney.

Blocker has played very little on the PGA tour the past two years and was pleased to be as close as he was. But Elder and Courney both felt they should have done even better than they did. "I had a super round. I was dead on the flag all day," said Elder. "But I didn't make any putts. I missed seven that were just not in, and you can't score that way."

Courney felt two of his pitch shots that wound up barely in from the cup "could have gone in. From where I was, it

Speier drives San Francisco past Astros with two singles

HOUSTON (UPI)—Light-hitting Chris Speier drove in three runs on two singles as San Francisco pitchers Tom Bradley and Randy Moffitt combined to limit the Houston Astros to six hits for a 5-2 win Thursday night.

Speier, hitting .200 entering the game, was hitless in his first two attempts before getting the two singles. With one out in the sixth, Garry Maddox singled, Gary Matthews walked and Garry Thayer hit a home run to move up the runners. Another walk by Astro starter and Jose Canseco set the stage for Speier's two-run single and a 3-0 lead.

CSI hosts Boise State

The College of Southern Idaho will host Boise State in a doubleheader at 1 p.m. Saturday at Jaycee park.

Coach Paul Ostyn said the original schedule has been flipped, giving CSI the home designation first with the Eagles repaying the trip to Boise Tuesday.

Fezler's best finish so far this year was seventh at Los Angeles. He started out like a winner Thursday, sinking a 30-foot putt for a birdie at his second hole, then placed his approach shot within a foot of the pin two holes later.

That tournament and last week's Masters had a bearing on keeping most of the PGA's top names away from Pensacola this week. Masters champ Gary Player is in Spain, but Jack Nicklaus and most of the others who have won tournaments over the past year are preparing for the U.S. Open.

NEW YORK (UPI)—New York Knicks' ailing forward Dave DeBusschere was named to the 1974-75 NBA defensive team in voting by the league's 17 coaches.

The 33-year-old DeBusschere retired as an active player after the current playoffs to become an executive with the New York Nets of the rival ABA. DeBusschere received 30 of a possible 34 points in heading the sixth annual defensive selections that lists all-stars for each of first and second teams because of a three-way tie for the guard spots.

Milwaukee nips Bulls by 113-111

CHICAGO (UPI)—Kareem Abdul-Jabbar netted 41 points and grabbed 21 rebounds Thursday night to lead the Milwaukee Bucks to a 113-111 win over the Chicago Bulls and give Milwaukee a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven National Basketball Association playoff series.

Abdul-Jabbar, hitting 20 field goals in 29 attempts, came within two points of equalling his personal high in a playoff game and fell 10 short of his best pro game ever in rebounds.

The Bucks emerged from a sea-saw first quarter and moved to a 20-point lead four minutes into the third period. But then the Bulls began to close the gap and pulled within three points twice in the final period before the Bucks settled down to stand off the rally.

Chicago trailed by six points with 25 seconds to play and got four points in the final seven seconds.

Norm Van Lier and Chet Walker each scored 27 points to lead the Bulls, while Oscar Robertson netted 18, second high for the Bulls.

The Bucks broke the game open in the second period when they hit four three-pointers in the first half, while Oscar Robertson connecting on 12 of 15 shots. Jabbar also grabbed 10 rebounds and the Bucks 25 compared to 24 for the Bulls, who hit 44.7 percent from the field.

In the third period, the Bucks continued their sharp shooting with a 30.3 field goal percentage, hitting 10 of 32 shots, with nine of 19 from the floor in the final period, while the Bulls shooting slipped to only eight out of 25.

The Bulls could have pulled out the game, with accuracy at the free throw line, where they missed 13 of 48 attempts.

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Bulls' shooting was off in the third period, while the Bulls shooting slipped to only eight out of 25.

Grazers hope for summary judgment in suit

TWIN FALLS — Grazers hope to win a summary judgment in a lawsuit requesting removal of livestock from grazing on public lands. According to a local land use spokesman, a decision on the suit filed in federal district court in the District of Columbia, is expected in about two weeks.

The suit was filed by the Natural Resources Defense Council — et al — against the secretary of the Bureau of Land Management, according to J. W. (Bill) Swan, president of Producers Livestock Marketing Association and chairman of the Idaho Cattlemen's Association Forest and Public Lands Committee.

The lawsuit charges that the BLM has violated the Environmental Protection Act and requests that grazing permits be withdrawn.

If a summary judgment is won on pleading, the lawsuit will not go to trial. If the judgment is lost, the case will be tried.

"If the lawsuit succeeds," an environmentalist group representative said, "it will be a landmark statement on all public grazing in the United States will be made. The statement would state that the federal government is responsible for the complete, according to Swan.

"It (the trial) is the first step in taking away grazing permits," said Swan.

Public lands and the BLM will have the right to appeal any decision made by the courts.

About one-half of the land area in 11 western states including Idaho is federally owned, according to a report on livestock grazing on federal lands written by the Council for Agricultural Science and Technology in January.

An estimated 88 per cent of all federal lands in the continental United States are located in the 11-state area which includes Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, Utah, Washington and Wyoming.

Comments in the report apply to the 87 per cent of all federal lands in those 11 states that is administered by the US Forest Service of Bureau of Land Management.

Domestic livestock graze on 73 per cent of this area. Federal land is estimated to supply 12 per cent of all grazing resources in the region and provide the equivalent of the feed required year long for 1.7 million head of cattle and 1 million sheep, according to the report.

In 1970 the total livestock population in the 11-state region included 14.6 million head of cattle and 8.4 million head of sheep and lambs, the report states.

Idaho has a total land area of 52.9 million acres of which 63.9 per cent is federally owned. About 95.7 per cent of this federal land is administered by the forest service and the BLM.
